ISPAIVID 2023

2nd International Symposium on Physical Activity and Individuals with Visual Impairments or Deafblindness

June 8-11, 2023 – Parma (Italy)

We are pleased to invite you at the 2nd edition of the "International Symposium on Physical Activity and Individuals with Visual Impairments or Deafblindness", which will be held on June 8-11, 2023, in Parma (Italy).

The conference will deliberate on several issues related to adapted physical activities in children and youths with visual impairments or deafblindness. International experts will share their knowledge and expertise with research sessions, for the most recent scientific based evidence, and with practical sessions, for the demonstration of physical activities and practice. Moreover, round tables with Paralympic athletes and digital technology companies will be delivered to share individual experiences and best practices.

We are intended to disseminate current knowledge and activities and to sensibilize academic and local community on the critical issue of physical activity and social inclusion.

Our goal is to provide all attendees with extreme exposure, so we can make sure that this event is blend of outstanding researchers, young scholars, practitioners, local communities, industries, and other individuals from varying disciplines.
